

FAQ: Room numbering on campus

Every room on campus is identified by a unique four digit code (possibly 5 - with A/B if a room has been split into two), like A001 or C001A

The first digit is the building code:

- A = Annex/Executive Offices
- C = Courtyard/Library building
- S = Stable block/Reception
- M = Masfield/Workshop
- R = Rose Theatre
- B = Barn Theatre
- L = Lamorbey House
- W = Student Services/Coach House
- D = Daló building/Bru Bar/Café
- P = Porta Cabin

The second digit represents the floor:

- 0 = ground floor
- 1 = first floor
- 2 = second floor
- B = basement

The third and fourth digit represent the room number, which may have a fifth digit a/b if a room can our is split further

So,

- C107 is in the courtyard building on the first floor and is room 07 - which is the IT room
- W003 is in student services building on the ground floor and is room 03 - which is the student services reception area
- S003 is in the stable block building on the ground floor and is room 03 - which is a stage management office
- L113 is in Lamorbey house on the first floor and is room 13 - which is Finance department
- C001a is in the courtyard building on the ground floor and is room 01 which is subdivided into A and B - this is area A of the rehearsal room opposite the studios
